DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 9/8/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murakami et al. Murakami discloses a sheet discharging device that includes a sheet discharging unit (22) with a discharge port (22/23 nip); a charge eliminating member (7, see col. 12, lines 38-56); and a sheet stacking unit (16) that is able to ascend and descend passing the sheet discharge port.
4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bromage. Bromage discloses a sheet discharging apparatus that includes a sheet discharging unit (11) with a discharging port (see Fig. 3); a charge eliminating member (36); a sheet stacking unit that is able to ascend and descend passing the port that includes a tray (29a) and an escape portion (40).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 9/8/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
6. The applicant states that the charge eliminating member of Murakami et al. is not contactable with an end of a sheet stacked in the sheet stacking unit. The examiner disagrees. The term "contactable" merely requires that the charge eliminating member be capable of contacting a sheet. The charge eliminating member disclosed by Murakami is capable of contacting the end of a sheet.

7. The applicant states that Bromage does not disclose a charge eliminating member disposed at a sheet discharge port wherein the stacking unit ascends and descends passing the sheet discharging port. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., "the stacking unit ascends and descends passing the sheet discharge port") are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Rather, the claims merely require that the sheet stacking unit is "able to ascend and descend passing the sheet discharge port" (emphasis added). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

8. The applicant states that Bromage does not disclose a charge eliminating member. In response, see at least col. 5, line 48.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3651
